Indianapolis, IN (April 7, 2016) – Ted Reynolds, CAA, Middleton High School, Middleton, Idaho, received the 2016 NIAAA State Award of Merit during the Idaho Athletic Administrators Association (IAAA) state conference on April 5. This annual award is provided by the National Interscholastic Athletic Administrators Association (NIAAA), for recognition of meritorious dedication to High School and Middle School Athletics.

Ted is a Certified Athletic Administrator (CAA), and received his degree from Montana State University. He is in his 13th year as an athletic administrator, with 5 of those at Middleton High School.

Reynolds is currently serving on the NIAAA National Emergency Network Committee, and is also a member of the IAAA state Executive Board and serves on the conference committee.

In 2014, he was acknowledged as the Idaho State 4A Athletic Director of the Year, and Idaho 3rd District Coaches Association Athletic Director of the Year. Mr. Reynolds has managed numerous state tournaments representing various classes in the sports of soccer, girls' basketball, golf and track & field.

About the NIAAA: Headquartered in Indianapolis, Indiana, the NIAAA is the professional organization for interscholastic athletic administrators. The NIAAA consists of athletic director associations in the 50 states and the District of Columbia, and the membership includes approximately 10,000 athletic administrators from the U.S., as well as internationally. NIAAA membership provides opportunity for professional development, education, certification, benefits of services, products, recognition, exchange of ideas and promotion of the profession.

NIAAA champions the profession of athletic administration through education opportunities, advocating ethics, developing leaders and fostering community.
